For this section, local rains, variable winds, generally southerly, higher temperature.

A SECRET MARRIAGE.—In not a few homes of Lynchburg the following announcement will be a startling surprise:

Married, in Washington city, July the 1st, 1886, at the Church of the Epiphany, by Rev. Charles C. Griffith, Miss Victoria Warwick, of Lynchburg, to Mr. Philip R. Fowle, of Washington, D. C.

There are many who will rub their eyes and read this notice over again, thinking there is some mistake. But there is none. It is all just as printed, and thereby hangs a tale which we must relate. The bride, as is well-known, is the daughter of Mr. Abram D. Warwick, and one of our prettiest and best known young ladies. She has been conspicuous in society and a favorite in the circles in which she moved. She is a granddaughter of the late Mr. John M. Warwick, one of the noblest of men, and a cousin of Senator John W. Daniel. She is petite in form, bright, amiable and winsome. The groom was a resident of Lynchburg several years ago, engaged in a brokerage business and it was then the attachment was formed which culminated in the secret marriage one year ago. Mr. Fowle is a native of Alexandria, and is a brother-in-law of Governor Fitzhugh Lee. He is a gentleman of handsome appearance, fine address, and well calculated to captivate the maidenly affections of an appreciative young lady. Something more than a year ago Miss Warwick visited her cousin, Mrs. D. P. Halsey, in Washington, where Mr. Fowle resides, and while there the marriage was contracted. The reason for secrecy was that he was not then in condition to incur the expense incident to the married life, but still they wished to clinch the matter beyond peradventure and make sure of each other, before the chances of fickle fortune, or rival lovers, or any other chances or exigencies that might arise. So the secret remained locked tight in the two bosoms until about a month ago, when the bride informed her parents of the important step she had taken, thus demonstrating that a woman can keep a secret, at least for a year. There are many who will wish this couple much happiness and the fullest fruition of their hopes. Such love and patience and precaution deserve the happiest realizations of matrimonial bliss. They are late entering on the honeymoon, but it is to be hoped that for that cause it will be none the less enjoyed and only the longer protracted. There will be a flutter in society this morning when the above is read, and many will feel that they have been cheated out of a hymeneal event and spectacles attractive alike to all ages, classes, sexes and conditions. Mr. Fowle arrived yesterday morning, and at once joined his wife at her father's.—Lynchburg News.

The marriage of Mr. Fowle was also kept a secret in this city, only his intimate friends having been apprised of the event at the time.

PERSONAL.—The Scientific Record contains a very complimentary extract concerning two little, but important volumes, of which Mr. Glenn Brown, architect, of Washington, is the author, copied from the proceedings of the Central Society of Architects, Paris, probably the most prominent architectural association in the world. After praising the works highly they recommend their translation and republication in French, for the use of French architects and amateurs. The same works have received many complimentary notices from prominent English journals.

Mr. Robert Janney has returned from a pleasant stay at Virginia Beach.

Capt. George Musbach is still confined to his home with a severe cold.

Mr. D. C. Hatcher, a popular citizen of Middleburg, has returned to Rectortown.

The Misses Herbert, of Fairfax county, near this city, are at Virginia Beach.

Judge Robert W. Hughes and wife are enjoying the quiet of their mountain home at Abingdon, Va.

Mr. R. J. Thomas and family are at the Rockbridge Alum Springs for the season.

Mr. J. A. Dixon and family left to-day for the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, where they will spend the remainder of the summer.

Mr. Albert Stuart has gone to Stratford, Westmoreland county, to spend a week.

Dr. D. N. Rust has removed to his handsome new office, which he has just built, on Washington street, near Prince. The office was one of the handsomest and most conveniently arranged in the city. The office from which Dr. Rust moved, on the corner of Prince and Washington streets, had been handsomely refitted and is now occupied by Dr. W. G. Ashby.

Mr. Hessel Smith has gone on a two weeks' trip to Oakland.

Mr. Wm. Edwards and Miss Jennie Dickinson, of Baltimore, are visiting Mr. J. T. Hill.

Mr. J. H. Burroughs, whose illness has heretofore been mentioned, is lying in a very critical condition at his home, on south Lee street.

Miss Laura King is visiting friends at Culpeper.

DROWNED.—Yesterday evening, shortly before 7 o'clock, seven colored boys, named Herbert, Richard and George Tancil, Beverly Diggs, Samuel Harris, James Chase and Josh Moore, whose ages ranged from 10 to 13 years, were in a row boat off Jones's Point. They anchored the boat near the black buoy, and two of them, Geo. Tancil and Josh Moore, took off their clothing and jumped overboard. Hardly had the boys gotten into the water before Moore called for help, but those in the boat, supposing he was fooling, paid little attention to him. He cried "For God's sake save me." The boys in the boat then realized that he could not swim and tried to raise the anchor and get the boat to him, but this they were unable to do in time, and the boy sank out of sight and was drowned. Some of the boys threw oars to him, one of which he grasped, but it failed to support him, and he sank beneath the surface when only a few yards from the boat from which he had jumped and in full view of several persons who were standing on the shore, but who scarcely realized his danger till he was drowned. His body had not been recovered up to four o'clock to-day. The boy had recently come to this city from near Warrenton, and was living with his aunt, Annie Cromwell, on Wolfe street, near Royal.

While at work on his engine on the Midland road, on Saturday night last, Mr. George Washington was quite badly bruised by being struck with a long poker, which caught on a timber of a bridge and was jerked from his hands.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—At about 7:30 last evening Alphonzo Arrington, a well-known bricklayer of this city, attempted to take his life by shooting himself in the breast with a Winchester rifle. He returned to his home, after being absent all day, and requested his daughter to sing "Where is My Wandering Boy To-night?" His daughter complied with his request, and at the conclusion of the song was surprised to hear her father remark that he could not stand it—the song worked too much on his feelings. Arrington was slightly under the influence of liquor, and after listening to the well-known revival hymn left the room. His absence was not noticed until the fatal shot was heard. It was then found that he had taken a Winchester rifle and placing the muzzle just above his heart, had pulled the trigger with his toe. Dr. Klipstein was summoned and made an examination of the wound and discovered that the bullet had struck just above the heart and taking an upward course came out near the left shoulder. From the hasty examination necessarily made the physician was unable to discover whether the bullet had penetrated any portion of the lungs. He, however, gave it as his opinion that the wound was very serious and might result fatally. No cause can be learned for the act. The only apparent reason was the saddening effect of the song by his daughter. Arrington has been leading an irregular life for some years, and this may have had some effect on his resolve to end his existence. Arrington is 38 years of age, and has a family of a wife and three children—two sons and a daughter.

A subsequent examination of the would-be suicide's wound was made by Drs. Klipstein and Powell, from which it was learned that the ball entered just below the collar bone on the left side of the chest and made its exit through the upper portion of the scapula. While the injury to the soft parts is considerable, the wound, the doctors think, is not necessarily fatal.

POLICE REPORT.—Last night was cloudy and warm until about 1 o'clock, when it became clear. There were eight prisoners at the station house.

The Mayor this morning disposed of the following cases:

Police officer Joseph Martin, charged with threatening and abusive language towards Messrs. Peter and Charles Pulman, was suspended for the remainder of his term and put under his personal bond in the sum of $1,000 to keep the peace.

Geo. Chichester, charged with throwing stones in the street, was fined $1.

Wm. Carter, colored, arrested by Capt. Webster, for disorderly conduct, was fined $10, and William Young and Wm. Pinkney, arrested on the same charge, were dismissed.

Augustus Melechire, colored, arrested by officer Grady, for an assault on his wife, was fined $10, and in default of payment sent to jail.

Ed. Girtz, colored, arrested by Lt. Smith, for an assault on Laura Green, was fined $5.

A colored woman, arrested by officer Brenner, for disorderly conduct, was fined $1.

Dan Corbin, colored, arrested by officer Tiger, for being drunk on the street, was discharged.

James Thornton, Sherman Gaines and Herbert Gaines, colored boys, arrested by officers Bontz and Bettice, charged with gambling, were dismissed.

BILLY WILLIAMS AGAIN.—Accounts of the sudden appearance and abrupt disappearance of parties supposed to be Billy Williams, the murderer of Policeman Arnold, are growing monotonous, and are looked upon in the same light as the personal manifestations of the Wandering Jew during the past eighteen centuries. The last glimpse the fugitive Williams deigned to give his fellow creatures of himself was in what is locally known as "Hell Hole," or the large marsh on the south side of Hunting creek. Parties who live in the vicinity of the marsh say they observed a strange man building a raft in the swamp one day last week, and they supposed he intended crossing the river on it, but that when completed the stranger made but a short voyage—only crossing "Muddy creek," at the southern entrance to the marsh. The man was subsequently seen on the main road, since which time his whereabouts have been unknown.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS of the county met to-day at the county court house, Messrs. A. B. Grunwell, of Washington district; Horatio Ball, of Arlington district, and Tibbet Allen, of Jefferson district, were present. The board organized by the election of Judge A. B. Grunwell, chairman. After discussing the financial and road matters generally, the board adjourned until Monday next. This is the first meeting of the new board, and on account of the county court being in session and requiring the services of the County Clerk and Commonwealth's Attorney—the presence of which officers being necessary before the board during its meeting—the board adjourned until Monday next, at which time the county levy will be laid for the ensuing year and the financial report of the county for the last year ordered.

COUNTY COURT.—Judge D. M. Chichester presiding.—Com. vs. Richard Simmons, indicted for felony; case continued for defendant till August term.

J. D. Nauck, was appointed Justice of the Peace for Arlington and J. E. Woodruff, for Washington districts.

Eli Butler, indicted for malicious assault, gave bond for his appearance at the September term.

Frazier vs. Hagenbaugh continued till the second day of the September term.

Carlin vs. Hyatt, case continued till the second day of the September term and order issued against defendant for peremptory trial.

Various accounts against the State and county were allowed.

Court adjourned till court in course.

THE W. & O. EXTENSION.—Mr. E. B. Thomas, the general manager of the R. & D. railroad, when asked about the reported extension of the W. & O. road from Round Hill to the top of the Blue Ridge mountains, on Saturday said that the extension of the road had been frequently spoken of, but he had no information that any official action had been taken in the matter. It was believed that such extension would pay, and that a summer resort established in the mountains would prove to be popular with the residents of this city.

No RACE.—There has been some talk to the effect that arrangements would be made for a race between the Virginia Boat Club's crew and the Alexandria crew, to take place at Maiden's Adventure or Fredericksburg. A State reporter to-day asked one of the Richmond crew if the arrangements had been completed, and he said that the race would not come off.—Rich. State.

[No.] The Richmond club, although they are loud talking kickers, know when they have enough.

The new front which has been placed in the building of Mr. Lewis Kraft on Royal street materially improves the appearance of the square.

The River View switch-back railway which was damaged by a storm last week was repaired.

DEATH OF CAPT. WILLIAM W. ROCK.—Capt. William W. Rock, an old, well-known and popular citizen, died at the Infirmary on Saturday night. The deceased was the oldest son of the late Richard Rock, and brother of the late George W. Rock. In early life he succeeded his father in business, conducting for a number of years the blacksmith shop on the northwest corner of Union and Duke streets. He was a member of Maj. Geo. Duffley's artillery company, which went to Harper's Ferry at the time of the John Brown outbreak. At the beginning of the war he went South and cast his lot with the Confederate army with which he remained until the final surrender, having filled the position of master armorer. For a short time afterwards he worked at his trade in Warrenton, but eventually returned to his native city. As has been stated in the GAZETTE Mr. Rock was prostrated by the heat one day last week, since which time he had been at the Infirmary. It was at first supposed the attack would prove harmless, but a weakness and depression followed from which he never rallied, and he breathed his last about ten o'clock Saturday night. Mr. Rock enjoyed a local prominence in years gone by. He was regarded as a man of integrity, a genial companion and a true friend. He was twice elected Sheriff of this city and county, but on both occasions failed to qualify. He was a member of the Common Council from the First ward about ten or twelve years ago, and more recently Overseer of the Outdoor Poor. He left a will bequeathing his property to his cousin, Clinton W. Hunter, of Enfield, N. C. This was done at the request of his brother, the late George W. Rock, in consideration of kindness extended their sister during the war. The funeral of the deceased took place this evening.

LEG BROKEN.—Frank, a little son of Mr. James Richards, while playing on the corner of King and Lee streets yesterday evening had one of his legs badly broken by a heavy wooden counter, on which he was playing, falling on him. He is a brother of Barney Richards, who, it will be remembered, was shot in the face about a year ago with a pistol and who remarkably recovered from what was considered at the time a fatal wound.

Premature decline of power in either sex, however induced, speedily and permanently cured. Book for 10 cents in stamps. World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.
